JOHN ROSEN HAS BEEN FOUND.

He Arrived in the City With His Son

Yesterday. John Rosen, whose reported disappasrance in New York created so much astonishment in this eity has been heard from At 3.50 yesterday afternoon the following telegram was re-ceived in this city from New York by his relatives:

John is here alive. Don't worry. George a here. Locis Birrons. Later in the day the following mesage was received from New York:

John and son, George, left on 7.45 for Louis Birrons. Mr. Rosen, accompanied by his son George, and George Fasshold, of Pitts-ton avenue, arrived home at 12 05 this morning. A TRIBUNE reporter met Mr. Rosen's son as he was engaging a cab and learned that all the foundation there is to his father's disappear ance is that he got lost in New York. He was staying at 173 Spring street and started away for a short afternoon walk. The result was nothing more or less than what would have happened to hundreds of younger men with more active minds. Yesterday at 2 o'clock, although since his disappearance a vigorous search was made without finding him, Mr. Rosen walked into the house alone in the most matter of-fact way, and seemed to be far less concerned than his friends who were worried almost to death about him.

VETERANS IN TENTS.

The Grand Army at Gettysburg-Low Fares on the Reading.

The diminishing remnant of the vast and gallant host that went forth from the mountains and vaileys and cities of Pennsylvania to the defense of the Union during the dark days of the rebellion, will re-assemble on the his-toric battlefield of Gettysburg on Sat-urday, June 30. The occasion is that of the annual encampment of the Thomas Stephens, a young lad who resides with his mother, a widow, in Briggs tow, had his leg broken yesterday. Stephens is employed as a mule driver in Briggs' mines, and while riding on one of the animals it suddenly became victous and the boy was thrown from its back against the side of a car with great force. The blow fractured his leg. Dr. George B. Reynolds was summoned and set the long. continuous round of drills, parades, ceremonies and camp-life frolles ren-der Gettysburg a most attractive place to visit during the encampment.

From June 27 until July 6, inclusive, the Reading railroad will sell special round trip tickets from all points in its territory at a very material reduction from the regular rates. These tickets will be good to return any day until and including July 9. On Sunday, July 1, there will be special excursion trains over the Reading road from Philadelphia and also from Reading. The low fares afford a rare opportunity to visit the great battlefield of the rebellion, and those desiring in-formation regarding tickets and trains ean obtain the same from the nearest Reading railroad ticket agent.
